Read this with me:

An astronaut up in a spaceship far, far away once described our Earth as looking like a big blue marble floating in space. Astronauts and scientists can explain how the world can just hang there, but we like to think that God is holding our world in his hands, caring for us and keeping us safe in his love. It is God's love for us that gave us Jesus, too. Not only has God given us a home here on Earth, but because Jesus is our friend and savior, we will have a home in Heaven too. Heaven may or may not look like a big blue marble, but we can be sure God will even then be holding us in his hands!

John 3:16

Thinking Time

The sun shines, but what else does it do?
Can you ever see the moon during the day?
Where can we find we find water?
What is your home address?

Draw a face and then color the sun.
